Bricks in the Wall

Bricks in the Wall

Members of the yearbook staff chose "Bricks in the Wall" as an idea to use while organizing events, pictures, and happenings for the 1988 Eagle. Both faculty and students recalled memories and shared ideas about this theme.

"The first thing which comes to mind is our 4th grade year at Wall. Keith Thompson was our teacher and we always listened to the radio. A popular song at the time was Pink Floyd's "Another Brick in the Wall". It is a song about school kids rebellion against education and their teacher. Our class used to sing along each time we heard the chorus: We don't need no education; we don't need no forced control, etc. Now I think we all have realized how important education is. Since 4th grade many of us are preparing for our college education. And WHS has done an excellent job of preparing the Class of 1988 for the future." Wendy Cordes, Senior

"(It) makes me think of a brick being one individual part of a large foundation. This is compared to the way each individual student helps make up our entire school."

Heather Schone, Senior

"There's a place for every person everywhere."
Justin Keyser, Junior

"I'm just another student in Wall. It takes everyone of us to make that wall."
Connie Wolf, Junior

"It makes me think of one part of a whole support group and connecting the others making them one."
Tina Ladoucer, Sophomore

The spirit of WHS is perhaps easier to catch than this pass from freshman quarterback Tyler Keyser. Tyler, who was starting quarterback, warms up his arm before a game.

Educators face challenge, excite student learning

The challenge facing school teachers year after year is that of making a good school great. It is a continual challenge to secure the resources and provide the opportunities for delivering the teaching that helps young people think more clearly, or more thoughtfully and make better choices.

The pedagog's thrill is observing an excited, engaged classroom: kids fired up to learn, using their minds to discover, to question, to probe; kids motivated and proud of their accomplishments.

We see this from time to time: at an athletic contest, a science fair, a school play, a music concert, a debate contest, a math contest, a spelling bee, and in the classroom when a topic causes spirited participation.

Our challenge as educators is to see that students receive a steady diet of real learning.

Writers create books

Ms. Iversen's and Ms. Simon's creative writing classes learned the power of writing. They wrote books for first and second graders and biographies for elderly people of the community. When the books were finished, they were read aloud and given to the person it was about. "It meant a lot to them," said Ms. Simon. Her class, working with second graders, also made silhouettes of the children. Ms. Iversen's class made a Christmas narrative poem which included the first graders who didn't get a book. Each child was given an illustrated copy of the poem. "When they saw the children's faces, my students knew how powerful their writing can be," Ms. Iversen said.

Science students prepare exhibits

Science students prepared more than 90 exhibits for a fair held in the gym on Friday, February 12. The entries were judged in four classes with a total of 100 points possible. Those receiving 90 and above received blue ribbons; 80-89, red; 70-79, white; 60-69, yellow; and 50-49, green. Ms. Lola Kleinschmit, Middle School Science, and Mr. Al Brakke, High School Science, presented trophies and calculators to the top three entrants in each division. Don Plant and Eric Hansen won the Grand Award with "Fungus Among Us". The Second Prize for "Caffeine From Tea" went to Mark Patterson and Scott Nelson. Laurel Graham took third with "Thirst Quenching Liquid".

Three seniors take pre-calculus

Mr. Jeff Barnes, teaching pre-calculus for the first time, said it was a good review for him and a learning experience for the students. New books which were bought for the class were used by Heather Schone, Cassie Eddings and Melissa Buchman. "I like the class. It is small so we really understand the mathematics because we get a lot of help," Heather said.

Cooking provides a taste of France

Students in French I and II got a taste of France when they studied foods. They started by making Petits Gateaux de Noel, traditional French Christmas cookies. Later during a unit on food, several students volunteered to work in pairs and prepare treats for the classes using French recipes. They included pain (French bread), des fromages (French cheeses), biscuits (French crackers), several types of hors d'ourves, l'eau minerale (mineral water), du vin (non-alcoholic wine), du poulet et riz (chicken shish kobob served on rice), and some desserts.

Creative cooking offered

Many students noticed a new class, creative cooking, when they filled out their pre-registration forms for 1988-89. This home economics class taught by Ms. Marcine Patterson, centers around cooking and nutrition. Depending upon the budget provided, the students will be doing foreign and gourmet foods. "This class and all other home economics courses give you lifetime skills," said Ms. Patterson.

"It is fun because we learn a lot of helpful things," said Pam Eisenbraun about the freshman home economics class.

Freshmen learn pickle ball

One of the new games learned in physical education was pickle ball. Mr. Dale Walz said, "This game was not emphasized much, but will be in the years to come." The game is played with a racket and an oversized tennis ball. "Learning the basic fundamentals of a variety of games was fun," Christy Barber said.

In lifetime sports the students learned that staying fit doesn't mean going all out. Darren Lytle said, "All the games we learn will be pursued in later years for fitness."

Philosophy is part of world history

In world history the students read excerpts from the great books including Homer, Plato, Aristotle and others.

Mr. Eric Uecker would like to offer philosophy for a class. He said, "I found that students in world history class enjoyed philosophy. It leads to great discussions about what is right and wrong and good and bad."

All State Chorus held in Rapid City

Wendy Cordes, Emily Pipal, Justin Patterson, and Shane Stirling participated in the annual All State Chorus held in Rapid City. They traveled with Ms. Meri Meredith to Stevens High School in Rapid City every Monday night to practice with the area schools. Ms. Meredith said, "The music was much more difficult this year, due to the difficult rhythmic passages and harmonic dissonance."

The vocal music students, including mixed choir, girls glee, and swing choir, participated in a Christmas concert on December 17. Ms. Meredith said, "The selections for this year's concert proved to be challenging for both the students and myself due to the difficult harmony and the use of foreign languages. The students, however, took the challenge, and I feel, learned a great deal from the experience."

Band plans trip

Mr. Bob Ivers directed the band towards its goal of $27,000. Fifty-six members, eight chaperones and Mr. Ivers will travel to Florida in the spring of 1989. The band was invited to perform in Disney World, Kennedy Space Center and the Epcot Center. The trip will not be all play and no work. A twelve-hour ocean cruise-clinic and four concerts are on the agenda.

Plans for raising money included a pancake breakfast, a basketball game between the Jay-cees and Harlem Magicians, a jewelry sale, a collection of aluminum cans, selling lunches at auctions, sponsoring a Williams and Ree concert and selling candy.

Shane Stirling, Laurel Graham and Christy Schroeder practice for the Badlands Festival which was held in Wall on March 23. Five schools attended the festival presenting a concert in the evening. The music included marches and a popular piece, "Louie, Louie".

Band presents three concerts, marches

The WHS band played for three concerts as well as performing for other activities. The first event was Homecoming Coronation on September 25. The band played before Coronation for the cheerleaders. Next was Swarm Days at Black Hills State College on October 10. They practiced and trained to march. The Christmas concert was December 17. Wall hosted the Badlands Music Festival on April 18 which brought five area schools together. The Spring Concert on May 19 featured music by John Philip Sousa including "High School Cadets" and "The Thunderer". The band had performed six days before this concert for the Dr. Hays Day.

Wall hosts district music contests

On April 7 the Wall School District held high school vocal and instrumental contests for surrounding area schools including Wood, Kadoka, Philip, and Bennett County. This was the first time in six years that the contests were held here. Starting at 8:00 in the morning, the contests lasted most of the day.

"Wall students made a very good showing. Many groups and individuals received superior ratings," said Justin Patterson, a member of the band council.

"The whole day was a lot of fun. The music was great!" said Chad Anderson.

"I was disappointed with some of the results, but overall the day went pretty well," said Bob Ivers, Wall band director.

Fifty-three attend Scholastic Contest

More than half (53) of the high school students attended the Chadron Scholastic Contest on March 25.

The individuals were selected by teachers in all subject areas to represent Wall in the inter-school contest. Approximately fifty-five schools from Nebraska, Wyoming and South Dakota participated. Testing groups ranged from 40 to 120 participants.

Contestants were ranked according to scores. Those who ranged in the top 10 received an award. From Wall, they included Chad Anderson in Business Math (7/39), Jodi Baker in Business Law (7/25), Cassie Eddings in Physics (6/74), Laurel Graham in Plane Geometry (4/115), Dean Johannesen in American Government (4/103) and Tina Ladoucer in World History (7/96).

Seniors prepare for future

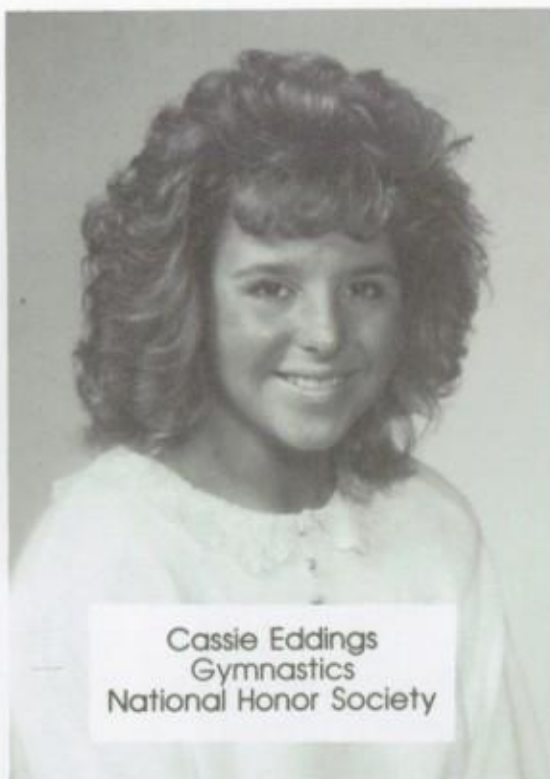

"A diversified group: class comedians, airheads, dingbats, philosophers, smart alecks, yet so much alike." Jody Botz said describing her class. The thought of leaving close friends to pursue a new life is both scary and sad. Scott Nelson remarked, "I like to think of graduation not as leaving high school, but as moving on to bigger and better things." Class adviser, Guy Smith said, "One always has a feeling of excitement realizing the challenges which each senior will be exposed to as they take their place in the adult world. The Class of 88 is well prepared for those experiences."

Seniors purchase SD Centennial flags

"The seniors felt it was a small part they could play in the state's celebration of its Centennial," said Mr. Guy Smith, Class adviser.

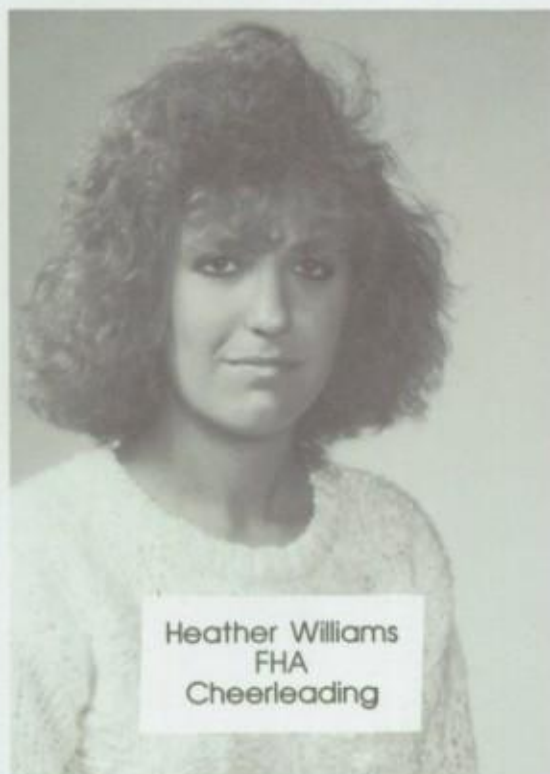

"The flags represent us, the Class of 88. They show that WHS meant something to us, with hopes that we meant something to WHS," said Scott Nelson.

"They represent our interest in the State of South Dakota," said Jody Botz.

Loch Alsgaard, Chad rson, Laurel Graham, Denise Johnson and Christy Schroe.sceived three excellents when they presented "Infancy" in the one-act play competition in Rapid City on January 26. Laurel and Chad got third place at State B Debate. Eric Hansen and Don Plant won first in the science fair scoring 100 points with "Fungus Among Us". Laurel Graham attended the Hugh O'Brien Leadership Seminar. Sophomores were also active in sports. Julie Nelson and Ricky Hammerstrom made the A basketball team. "The only thing our class is known for is being smart," Jennifer Dunker said mentioning a 90% average in biology. Student Council members were Laurel Graham and Chad Anderson.

Freshmen show enthusiasm

"Serving as freshman class adviser can really be fun. Freshmen are enthusiastic about being in high school and participating in activities," said Calene Babcock. Freshmen joined athletic teams and other organizations like Future Homemakers of America, and Future Farmers of America. They also helped with fund raisers including a magazine sale.

"I think of a wall as a completion of something you've accomplished. You build it brick by brick, task by task," said Nena Wilburn. Mickey Besson said, "I think our class is really active and we are going to be great in high school."

Sixth grade gets two new students

At the beginning of the year, the sixth grade got two new girls, Wendy Wood and Erin Norberg.

The girls and boys could play basketball for the first time.

To encourage reading, Mr. Kitterman set up the Great 6th Grade Worm Race. That's where every-time someone read a book, they gave a brief report. Then they move their worm up one. At the end of the year the person who has read the most books wins a prize.

Under a program for good behavior, students who didn't get their names on the board that day got a ticket. After 20 days in a row, the students would get a reward and five extra tickets. When a certain number of tickets were saved, the students could buy something.

Fifth graders busy

The fifth graders had a busy year. The fall had them refreshing their study skills. They made Indian Mounds, crystals, molecules, and landform maps out of play dough. During Homecoming Week they held a successful benefit cookie sale for one of their classmates.

Winter had them preparing for their part in the Christmas play. The Olympics were studied in reading class along with the classics. Fractions were learned in math. Their class was chosen to participate in the high school play, "The Wizard of Oz".

Spring included a field trip, nature studies, participating in the elementary track meet, and saying good-bye to 5th grade.

Third Grade

Third grade is a year of learning to be more responsible and working independently. Many new things were introduced: multiplication and division facts, writing in cursive, and working with dictionaries. The third graders listened to several interesting speakers: Mr. Nordberg on bike safety, Joyce Fossen on the Badlands, and Sid Goss on the Constitution. Holidays were celebrated: at Halloween they bobbed for apples, a pinata was made for the Christmas party and broken open, Valentines boxes were decorated in February and cards were exchanged.

First Grade

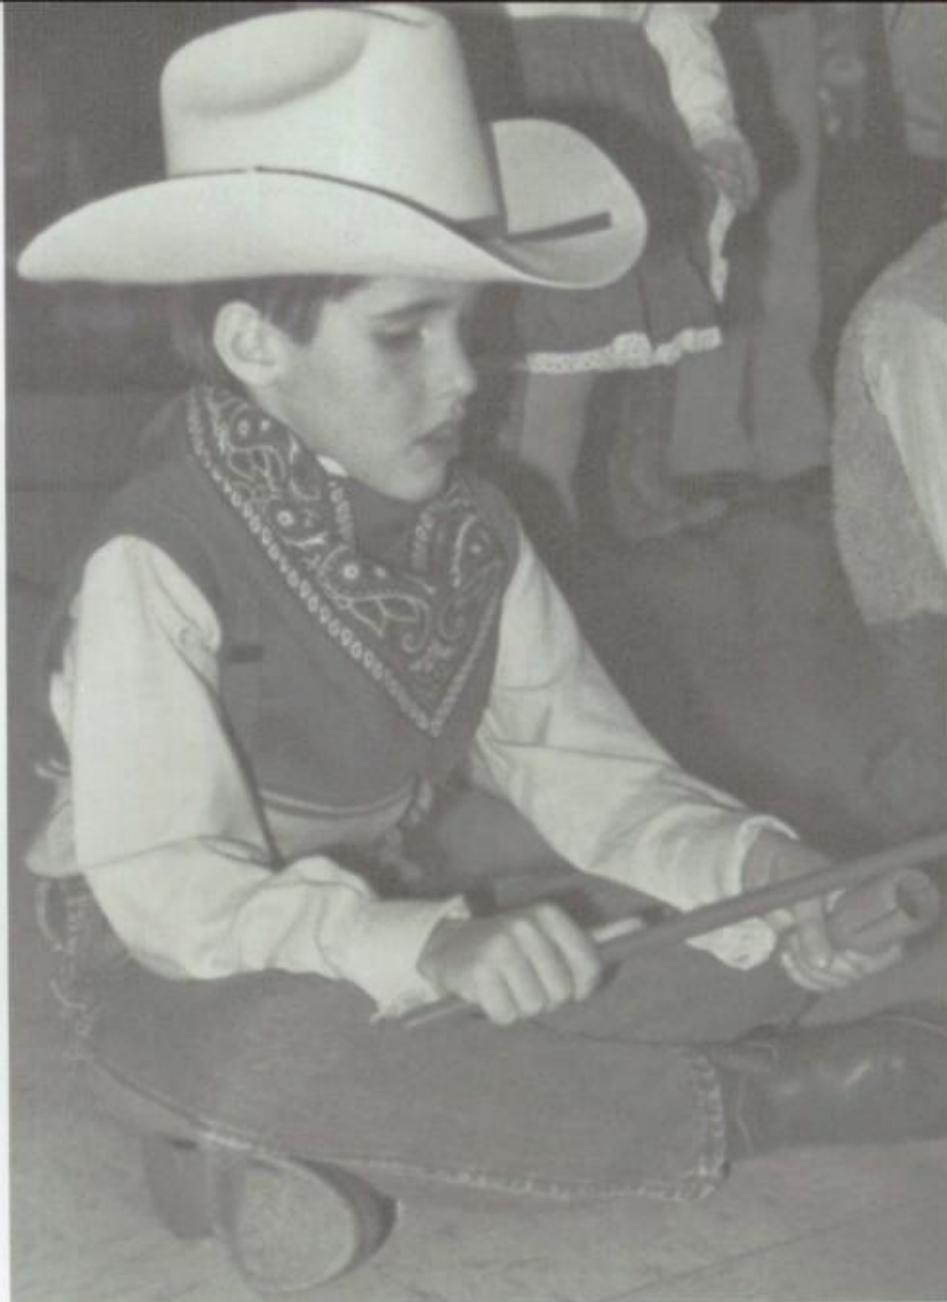

First grade is a time of wonder, new experiences and profound learning. They start reviewing their beginning sounds and end the year writing stories and poetry. In between they learn about everything from proper nutrition and taking care of their bodies to the study of prehistoric dinosaurs. They took a trip to the School of Mines Museum and Cedar Pass in the Badlands to reinforce the study of dinosaurs. To celebrate Thanksgiving, they prepared a meal fit for any Pilgrim and Indian and enjoyed it in the room. Creative juices flowed when they did puppet plays and creative writing projects. The Highway Patrol visited to discuss pedestrians and bicycle safety.

Kindergarten

Kindergarteners started their school a little differently than any other class. They attended school Tuesday and Thursday the first semester. They attended Monday, Wednesday and Friday the following semester. In class they were involved in many activities such as numbers, reading, handwriting, science, shapes, music, physical education, sharing and finding out that each person in class is different and special. Feeling good about oneself is an important goal in kindergarten. They did a unit on the circus attending the Shrine Circus at the Civic Center for the afternoon performance. They visited some of the community career helpers and talked to them about their job. The class enjoyed school and said, "We need to work hard to get ready for first grade."

Big Foote presents constitution program

On September 7 the Big Foote School presented a program in celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the U.S. Constitution. The students gave character sketches of some of the important people attending the Constitutional Convention. A play depicting the Great Compromise that took place at that convention was also performed. In October Big Foote hosted the Big White School for a Halloween Party. Troopers John Arras and John Norberg visited our school and talked to us about bicycle and pedestrian safety. It was very informative. The Christmas Program was held on December 18.

Eagles celebrate Homecoming

Eagles celebrated Homecoming the week of September 21-25. Activities included dress up days (Monday, 50's, Tuesday, beach bum, Wednesday, baby, Thursday, upside down/inside out and Friday, blue and gold), spirit windows, Coronation, a bonfire, a flea market, volleyball games and the traditional football game followed by a dance. Student Council planned the events.

The theme song, "Stand By Me" was sung by Angie Holsether, Justin Patterson and Sonja Kenoyer at the Coronation ceremony held Thursday, September 24. Co-captains Kevin Bielmaier and Jim Coats spoke encouraging the audience to attend the game. Chad Anderson introduced the past royalty. Then Myron Heathershaw (King 1986-87) and DeAnna Griswold (Queen 1985-86) crowned Kevin Bielmaier and Judy Botz Homecoming King and Queen for 1988.

Becky Werner and Jennifer Dunder work on the sophomore spirit window, "Snap, Crackle, Crunch".

The juniors spirit window, "Take the Kougars for a Loop" won first place.

Eagles/Kougars tangle

Dale McLaughlin scored the first and only touchdown of the Homecoming game against the Kadoka Kougars on September 25. Dale said, "Scoring that touchdown was really important because it was the turning point of the game." Kadoka was leading 6-0 and then the game was tied. While the touchdown was made, the Eagles were using the play called '91 Quick Right. It was designed to go five yards closer to the goal and through, according to Dale.

Coach Dale Walz said, "It was a good game the first half. Then their size and speed started to dominate and our inexperience started to show." Coach Walz said that it was the most outstanding job of offense and defense played all season.

At half time Homecoming Royalty, King Kevin Bielmaier and Queen Jody Botz, paraded around the field on a haywagon pulled by a team of horses drive by Keith Marquart.

Eagles show improvement

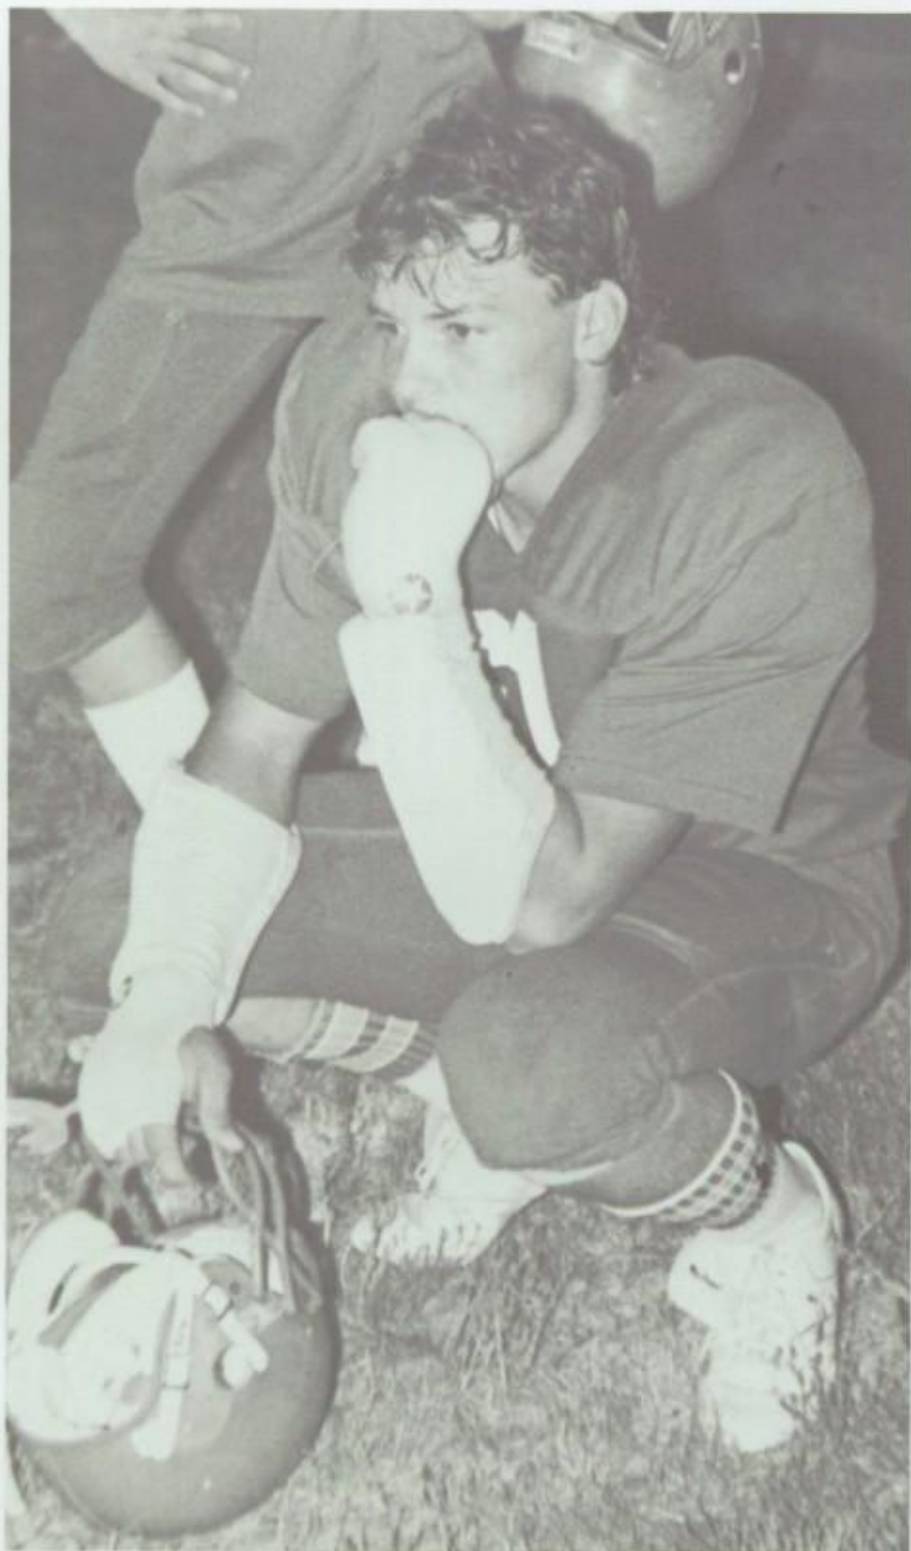

Even though the high point of the football season may have been the bus rides or pep rallies, the Eagles showed much improvement over the season. The kickoff was against Lyman County, where Wall was beaten solidly. Lyman had a game under their belt and a little more confidence. By halftime, the score was 43-0, but in the second half the Eagles realized their potential and scored just as much as the opposition, for a final score of 55 - 12.

Individually, the Eagles showed talent and ability. Offensively, Kevin Bielmaier led rushing with a total of 539 yards. As for passing, the team spent all season looking for a quarterback. Justin Keyser led Wall's air attack until a hand injury sidelined him. To fill Justin's shoes, Coach Walz recruited Tyler Keyser, who at the end of the year, passed for a total of 445 yards. (Continued on next page.)

Coach Walz and the new assistant coach, Kent Anderson, look upon this year as a growing year. "We will be returning some very talented athletes," remarked Coach Walz. Anderson commented that with the proper attitude and off-season training, Wall should see great improvement.

Eagles go to regionals

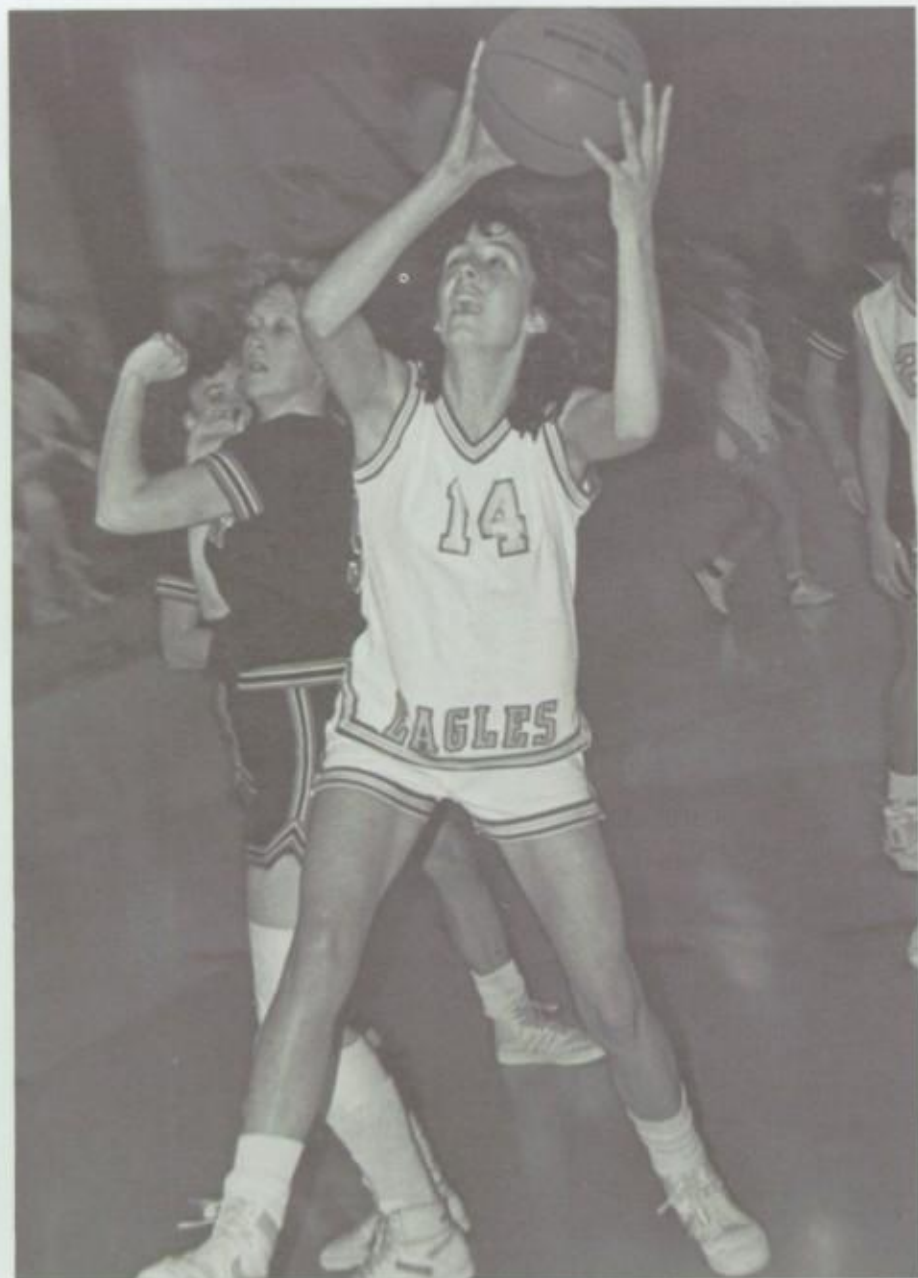

The A Team started the season by blowing out Crazy Horse Horse 91- 15, and compiled a record 12 - 12. Districts were held in New Underwood, and they placed second. The Lady Eagles went to Regionals for the third straight year, but managed only fourth place.

Jody Botz, All Conference, said, "In the off season, you must practice hard to improve your game for the following season, Cassie Eddings, Lori Ruland, Carrie Kortge, and Mickey Besson. Coach Bob Ivers said, "The best game the girls played all season was against Custer when they came back from a thirteen deficit to win by five." Heather Schone, Co-Captain, said, "Have fun and remember you get as much out of basketball as you put in it."

Seven freshman saw their first action on the junior varsity and, along with four sophomores, helped compile a 10 - 8 record.

Junior high girls win championship

Junior high girls basketball team placed first in the Badlands Conference Tournament and second in the YMCA Tournament. Their season record was 15 - 1. Stephanie Sutter, Rhonda McDonnell and Leslie Deutscher were the three eighth graders who played on the A team. "We worked hard this year, but we had fun. Next year we will be ready to work hard on the high school team," said Stephanie Sutter.

Five compete in cross country

Five girls competed in cross country. Seniors were Monica Sellaeg, Wendy Cordes, and Jody Botz. Lisa Fauske competed as a junior and Denise Johnson as a sophomore. They attended seven meets. The girls placed third at the Badlands Invitational. Because of the activeness of the runners, practices were left up to the individuals. The team received fourth at Regionals in Kadoka and went to State in Huron. Coach Merlin Doyle said that there might not be cross country next year because of the loss of students. "I would like to thank the girls for their efforts and dedication during the season. Overall, it was an exciting season, and I was proud of them," Coach Doyle said.

Basketball team has building season

"It was a building season all the way. We didn't have any starters back. Even though we only won four games, we gained in team work and improved team effort," said Coach Bob Ivers.

Scott Nelson and Dale McLaughlin were named to the Second All Conference team. Dale said, "The awards mean nothing until we have a successful season. Then I will be satisfied."

The B team did fairly well according to Coach Jeff Barnes. Some thing that contributed were hard work, good hustle and spending extra time shooting. Barnes said the three things that make a good team are good defense, good shooters and being able to keep your head in the game. They lost some close games, but still finished with a 6 - 10 record.

Junior high team had 'good' season

The junior high B basketball team had a good season according to Coach Kevin Sinclair. They finished the season with a 9 - 1 record. Jason Brown was the leading scorer with 89 points and a 8.9 average.

The A team finished with a 10-2 season record. The high scorer was Pat Smith with 160 points and a 13.3 average. "This was the best we've played in a long time. We worked together more like a team this year," said Greg Schroeder.

Gymnasts put hours into floor routines

After listening for hours, a piece of music sticks. You can't get it out of your mind. That's the one! Now put motions to the beat, soft music dance and hard music strong tumbling passes. This might not sound very hard to do, but for a gymnast putting a floor exercise routine together, it takes many hours of hard work. The gymnasts from Wall had help this year from dance instructor Linda Kushman. "Linda helped us put pizzaz in our routines," said Angie Holsether.

Four wrestlers go to State

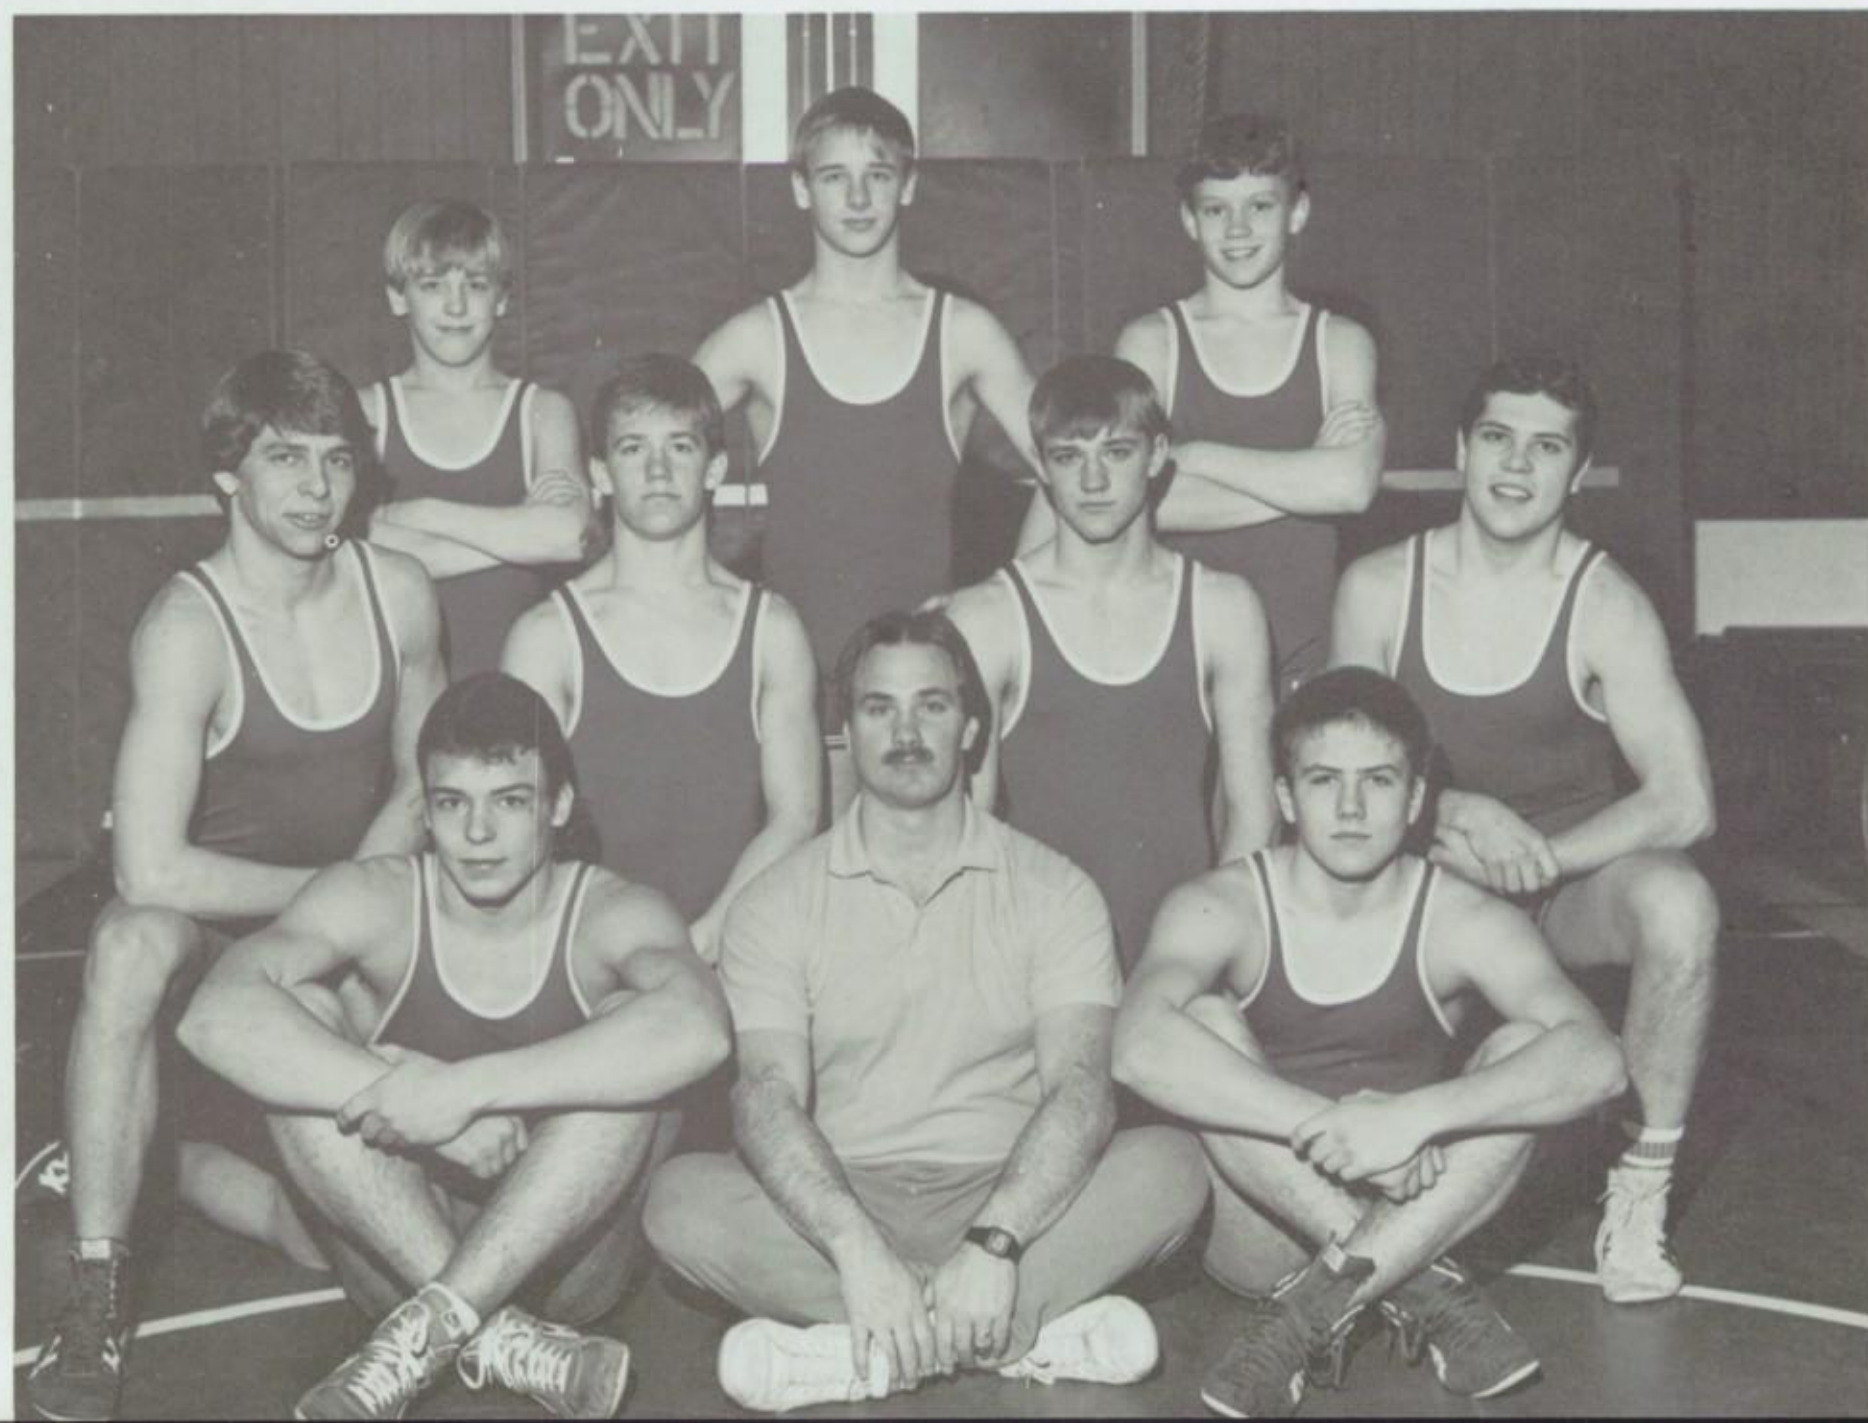

Four wrestlers, Justin Patterson at 105, Darren Lytle at 119, Corey Gunn at 167, and Brett Eichorst at Heavyweight, qualified for the State Meet when they competed at Regionals in Ft. Pierre on February 13.

Lytle was first with a t.f., a pin, and a decision. Patterson took second place with one pin and two decisions. Gunn and Eichorst placed fourth.

They competed at the State B Tournament in Watertown on February 19 and 20. Lytle placed second, and Patterson took eighth. The team placed 18 of 48. "It was a good performance by everyone and I was pleased," said Coach Dale Walz.

Under the direction of Meri Meredith, "The Wizard of Oz" presented March 14 and 15. Wendy Cordes played Dorothy with Heather Schone as The Scarecrow, Shane Stirling as The Tin Woodman and Lisa Kjerstad as The Cowardly Lion. The Wizard was portrayed by Chad Anderson.

In addition to the fifth grade class, the 22-member cast was supported by accompanist Lisa Fauske. Jodi Baker and Laurel Graham were assistant directors. The nine-member costume crew worked under the supervision of Ms. Marcine Patterson to provide colorful, unique clothing for the entire cast. Ms. Sandra Feller was in charge of make-up. Properties and scenery were provided by a twelve member crew under the supervision of Ms. Lola Kleinschmit and Ms. Lana Wood. Ms. Wood's fourth grade art class helped with the scenery.

Lights were set by Chad Anderson, Brian Buchman, Kim Pavao and Shane Stirling. Chad also was in charge of sound. Mary Jane Doyle headed the publicity and tickets crew.

FFA provides hands on experience

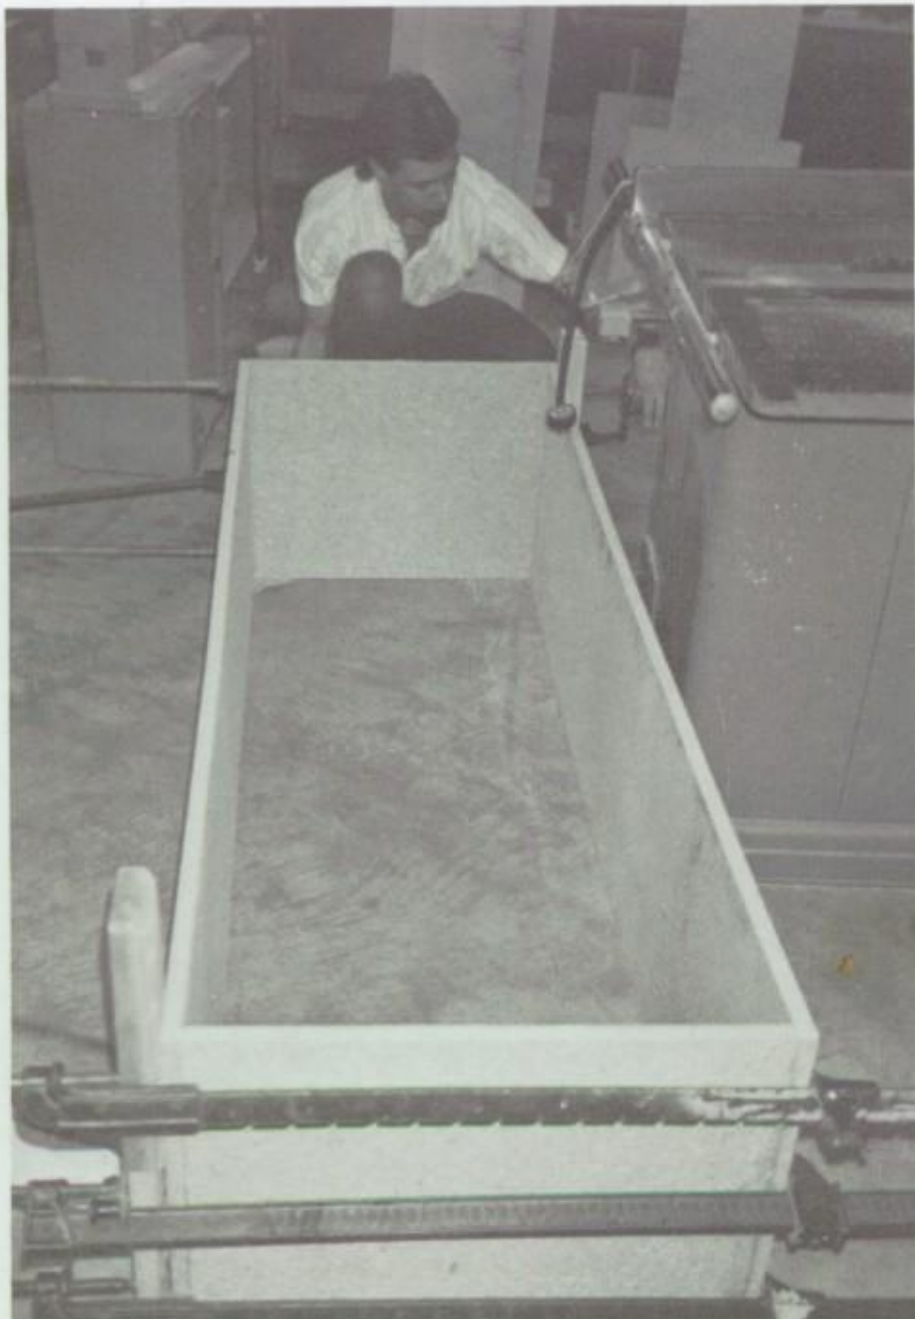

Wall's Future Farmers of America got hands on experience while building a crow's nest at the football field and a picnic shelter in the park. The 34-member chapter tore down the old crow's nest and built a new one in November after the football season ended.

"They learn how to build a wall, put in a window and make sure things are square. A lot of basics are learned and skills are reinforced," said Steve Venner, adviser.

The picnic shelter was built in the city park after members returned from the State Convention held on the SDSU campus in Brookings on April 10, 11 and 12. Keith Marquart received a gold in horse judging, and Ronnie Hamann won a gold in dairy cattle judging.

FHA girls attend competitions

Twenty one girls from the Wall FHA attended the District 9 Contest held in Rapid City in January. Over 300 participants from 12 Western South Dakota schools competed in 50 different areas including health, teen crises, budgeting and wardrobe planning. Seventeen qualified to give their talks in competition at state held in Sioux Falls in April. Connie Wolf was elected President of District 9 which put her on the State Board.

In Sioux Falls Crystal Deal was elected to PEP Squad (Peers Educating Peers), and Connie Wolf was among the 15 chosen for BOD Squad (Body Fitness). The FHA sponsored DATA Days in Wall, and Crystal gave a film presentation on teen pregnancy.

Ms. Marcine Patterson and Connie Wolf went to the National FHA Convention in Cincinnati held on July 9 through 17.

Yearbook grows, includes elementary

The Eagle grew from 88 pages to 104 pages when the elementary stories were again included.

The journalism class wrote the copy for the yearbook. They learned how to interview students and coaches and put facts into the stories.

"I really appreciate the work the journalism class did on the book. I hope that in the future more people will be willing to help on their own time, too," said Becky Werner.

Prom: Heaven on Earth

The annual Junior-Senior Prom was held April 15. Blue, silver and white colors corresponded with the theme "Heaven is a Place on Earth".

The junior class tried something different deciding to have the banquet at the Cactus. President Lisa Fauske said, "The junior class has always been different and we decided it would be easier."

"This is definitely the most successful project we have had, especially compared to our freshman float," said Sonja Kenoyer. The prophecies were read by Lisa Kjerstad and Crystal Deal. Kevin Bielmaier and Heather Schone gave the wills.

Class of 88 graduates

Commencement services for the Class of 88 were held on Sunday, May 22 in the school gym. Graduates entered in a candle light procession. Darla Crown was the main speaker. Ronda Heathershaw read a poem written by Ms. Nancy Iversen during their freshman English class in her speech. Kevin Bielmaier also reminisced about their years at WHS. A slide show at the end brought tears to my eyes.

The Song of the Class of "88"

Remember Always:

The meeting of minds ...
at the Badlands.

The celebration of crowning ...
through a happy haze.

The defeat of a game ...
only down for a while.

Remember always:

The trials and tribulations ...
of all the sports.

The work and frustrations ...
of all the classes.

The animosity and friendships ...
of all the people.

Remember Always:

The laughter,
The tears,
The excitement,
The shocks,
The love,
The hate,
The fear of the upcoming future.

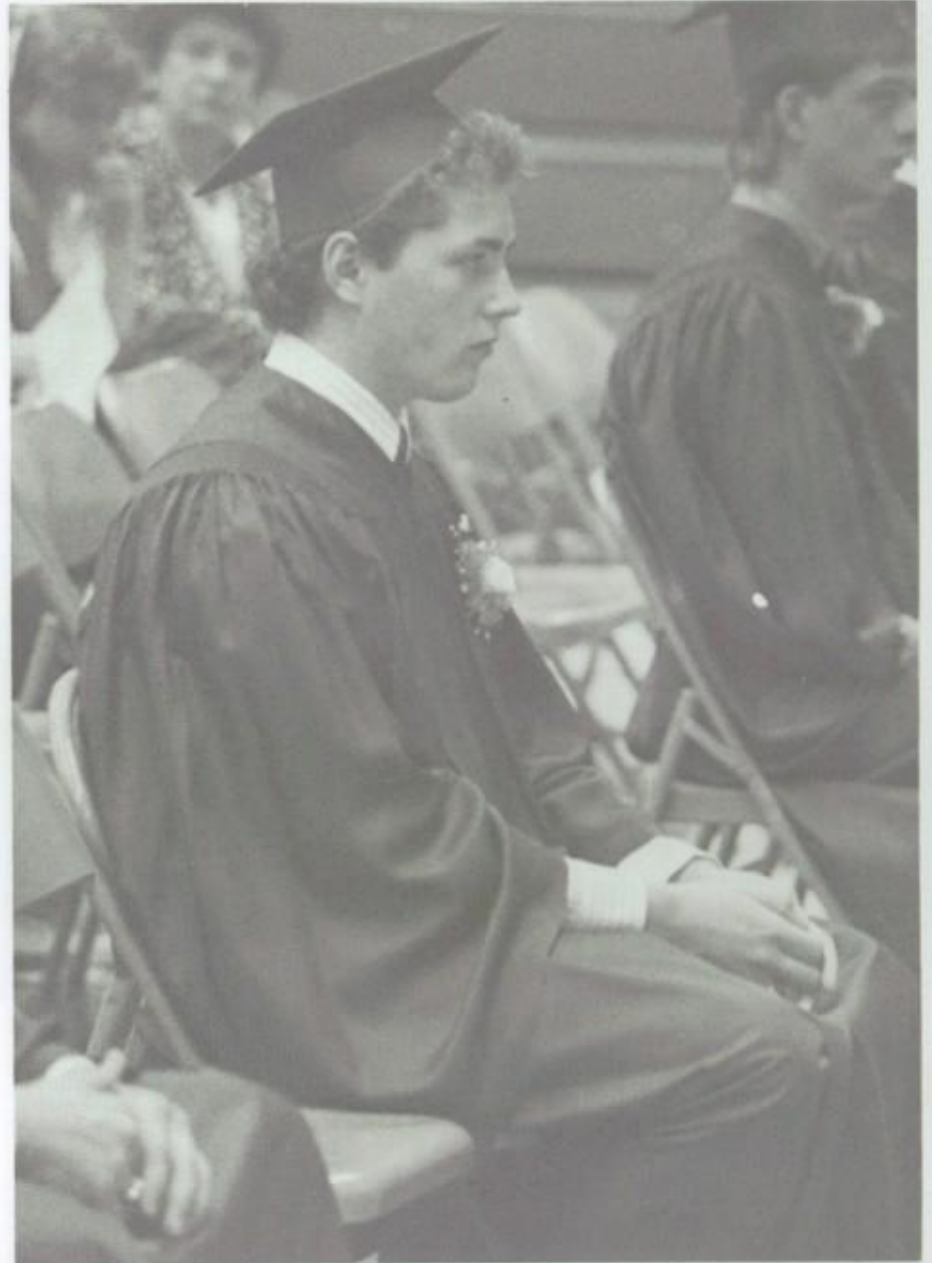

Remember our Senior year ...

64th class bids farewell

Wall's 64th, the Class of 88, planned a unique graduation ceremony. Ms. Meri Meredith played the processional while they walked individually around the floor with candles. They regrouped in the back and came together down the center aisle. Rev. Norman Anderson gave the invocation. Ronda Heathershaw and Kevin Bielmaier addressed their classmates recalling high and low points of their school careers. The senior girls sang "It's Time For Movin' On" before Mr. Poppe introduced Ms. Darla Crown. Merlin Doyle, high school principal, presented the class and Kirk Cordes, President of the School Board, presented the diplomas. Before the benediction by Rev. Anderson, a slide show, "I Won't Forget You" brought tears to the eyes of graduates, teachers and parents.

The Williams twins, Holli and Heather, listen to Ms. Crown's speech.

Wade Babcock seems to ponder the advice the class is given.

Class of '88

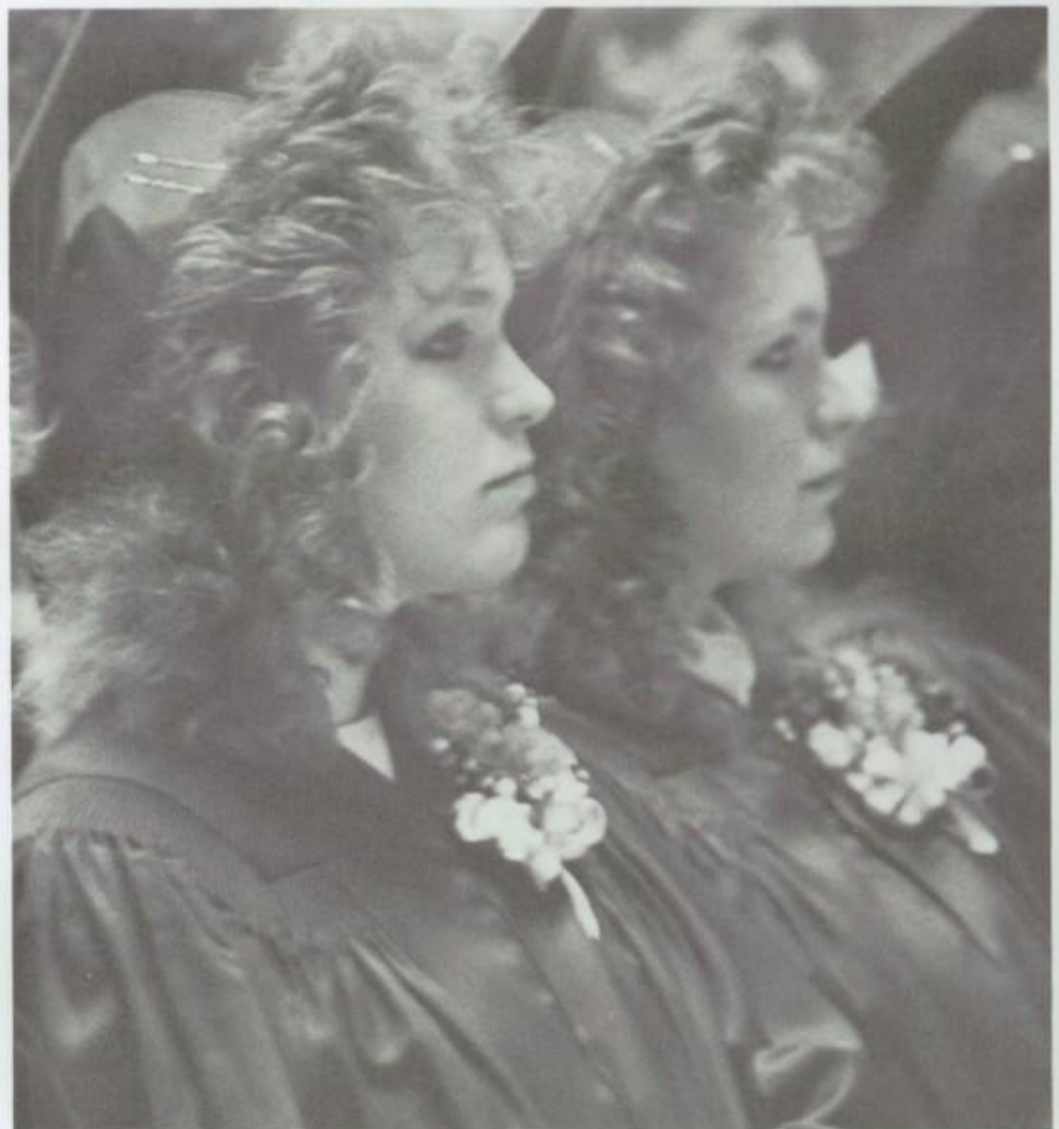

Freshman class of '88
You're great, just great!
(See me save time with instant rhyme!)

Combination of all kinds
I try to touch your minds
(which flit and flirt—but rarely hurt)
I try — like herding birds
So I'll give your own words.

"Talk a lot!" "We do not!"
"Everybody is real cool!"
"We are?"
"We're involved in school."
"Sports-minded!"
"Eager!"
"For what?"
"Loyal!" "No! not really!"
"Sarcastic!" "Funny!"

"Close!" "Loving!"
"Talented!" "Intelligent!"
"Conceited!" "No!" "Yes! Quite!"
"Hyper!"
"Most of us are full of laughter."

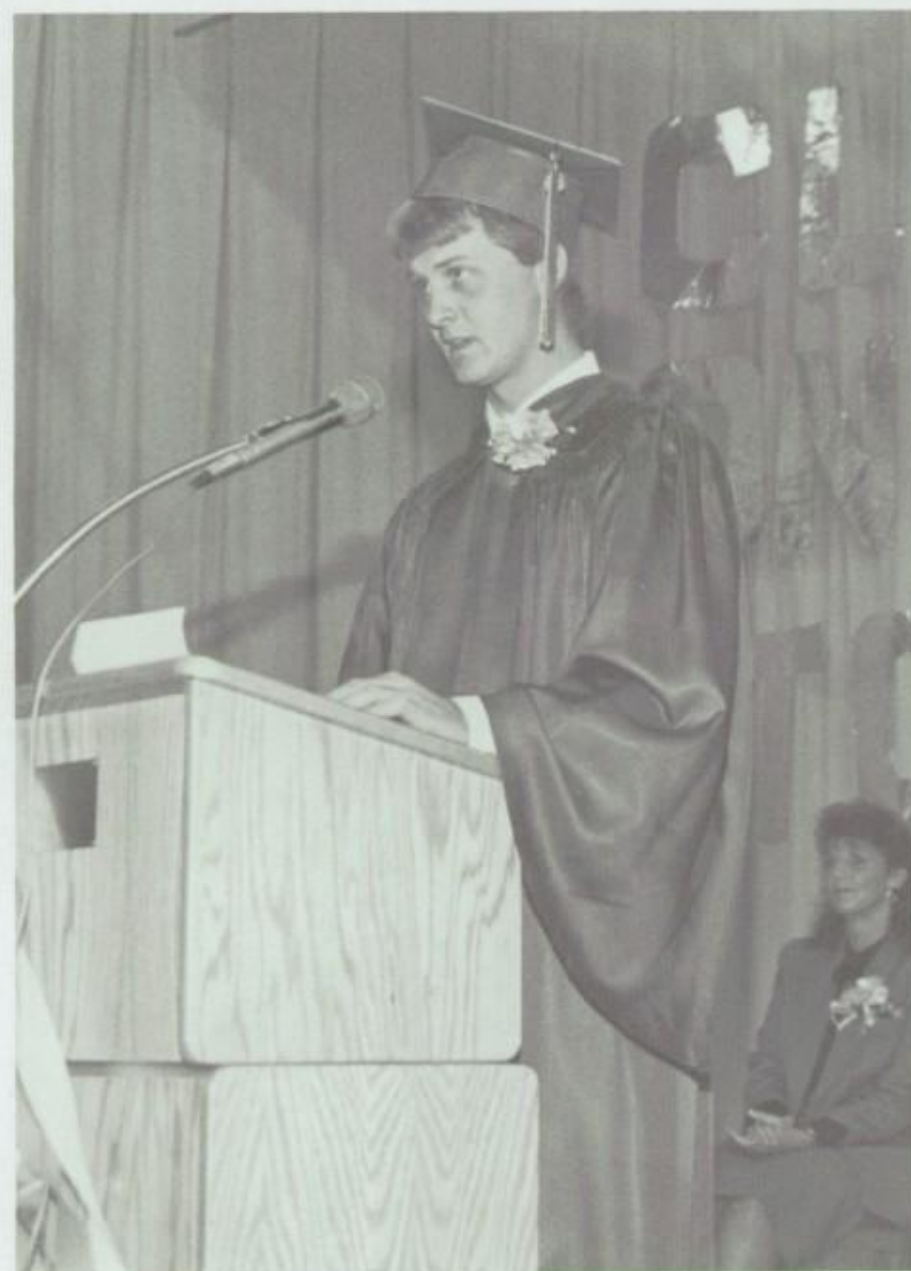

I say you're only young
With many songs still unsung.
Freshman class of '88
I think you're great — just great!

Acknowledgements

The 1988 Eagle could e been published without the cooperation of many people. Students in the journalism class wrote most of the copy. Steve Newnum was the professional photographer. His work was supplimented by students and teachers as indicated in the caption credits. Mary Jane Doyle, high school secretary, helped keep the staff up on changes taking place within the school and answered many questions. Elsie Mortensen, business manager, kept records of money collected from sales and advertising. The faculty and student body cooperated by answering questionnaires and being interviewed. All this help is gratefully acknowledged.

Thank you!
